

ABSTRACT

A method of using PACE for producing increased yields of mature functional proteins, including proteins requiring gamma-carboxylation for biological activity.